

INT. MEDICAL OFFICE - DAY

SANDRA stands across from VICTOR.

SANDRA

You can't be doing this. Not again.

VICTOR

It's not my choice who goes into surgery.

SANDRA

But she doesn't need it! She doesn't have the symptoms, and her tests have already proven that further surgery will damage the process her body has already taken to recover.

VICTOR

Are you the doctor? Or am I?

SANDRA

You think that just because you've got a fancy degree and a big job that your opinion is worth more than mine?

VICTOR

The Chief seems to think so. Come on- let me do my job.

SANDRA

Then let me do mine. Stop interfering. Stop trying to jump into my life and my patients' lives and assert your opinion when your opinion is wrong.

VICTOR

Careful, Sandra.

SANDRA

No, you be careful, Dr. This shouldn't be about you. Start actually caring about the outcome.

VICTOR

So you want me to just walk away?

SANDRA

I want you to trust me. And trust that I've saved just as many lives as you have, if not more.
